Hiroshima Peace Memorial Park, Part 1

Hiroshima Peace Memorial Park is located in downtown Hiroshima. Before the atomic bombing, the area was a busy commercial and residential district called Nakajima. On August 6, 1945, the city of Hiroshima was destroyed by a single atomic bomb. Because this area was near the hypocenter, most of the people there were killed. The victims included residents, workers, and students helping to tear down buildings to create a fire lane.

Q1. Where is Peace Memorial Park?

Q2. What kind of place was the Nakajima district?

Q3. Why were most of the people in the area killed?
